

FULL-TIME BACHELOR PROGRAMME

Global Project and Change Management

The Programme

Are sustainability, global health, social responsibility and global warming themes you care about? Would you like to contribute personally and professionally to a better world? In our four-year English-taught Bachelor's programme we teach you how to make a difference. We combine theory and practice, project management, business and research with global issues. Our programme consists of courses, real projects with companies right from the first year, and an international internship.

Your Future

When you graduate, you'll know how to lead a project team and how to put innovative ideas into practice. As an international project and change manager, you'll initiate, implement and manage projects aimed at solving global challenges. This involves working in complex, multidisciplinary environments. For example, you may have to liaise between policy-makers, non-governmental organizations (NGOs) and private businesses. Or you can set up your own social enterprise.

Does this sound like you?

- Do you want to work in real projects that contribute to change towards a more sustainable world?

- Are you engaged in society and interested in complex issues?
- Are you convinced that the Sustainable Development Goals matter?
